

Improved Dewatering of Mine Waste Tailings

Shahid Azam

Environmental Systems Engineering, University of Regina
3737 Wascana Parkway, Regina, Canada
Shahid.azam@uregina.ca

Abstract

This presentation will focus on improved dewatering of mine waste tailings. The presentation will provide the required theoretical context and demonstrate the use of innovative laboratory and field methods to improve slurry settling at various stages of the mining process. Selected case studies will be provided to highlight the relevant issues at different sites and the applicability of the dewatering solutions.